

What's happening in the Bellawaddy catchment?

The Bellawaddy catchment is one of 190 areas nationally prioritised to protect and restore our water quality.

We wanted to make you aware that Catchment Scientists will be working in the area this year, focusing on the streams and rivers that flow into Killala Bay around Enniscrone Town.

A public meeting was held on 11th November 2019 regarding this work but if you missed this and would like information please visit the website or contact us via the numbers below.

For more information contact:

Ailbhe Douglas (085) 8047793

Karen Kennedy (085) 8085495

Website:

www.watersandcommunities.ie

Dated: 03/07/2020